

Bio Liel Leibovitz

100 words

Liel Leibovitz is the Editor-at-Large of Tablet Magazine and a co-host of its podcast, Unorthodox.

Leibowitz has taught in several universities and colleges, including Barnard and NYU, and is the author and co-author of several books, including The Newish Jewish Encyclopedia: From Abraham to Zabar's and Everything in Between. He writes frequently on politics, culture, and religion, and his work has been published in the Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, The Atlantic, and other notable publications. Leibovitz has also previously served as the Senior Press Officer at Israel's Consulate General in New York.

50 words

Liel Leibovitz is the Editor-at-Large of Tablet Magazine and the co-host of its podcast, Unorthodox.

Leibowitz is the author and co-author of several books, including The Newish Jewish Encyclopedia: From Abraham to Zabar's and Everything in Between. He previously served as the Senior Press Officer at Israel's Consulate General in New York.